

Auxiliary Schedule AA2

Subdivision under an individual philosopher

- In Western philosophy the preferred arrangement is to locate works about a given philosopher under the appropriate period & place in AD. It may then be necessary to qualify the philosopher by preceding facets in AB/AC, e.g. Nietzsche — Existential elements in. Works by a philosopher go under the subject in the usual way, wherever it is located, e.g. Plato's Timaeus goes under Cosmogony (see Introduction, section 7.53 and section 12.32).
- An alternative is provided at AE where the philosopher is treated as the primary facet, in which case most or all the concepts below may be needed when qualifying.
- In Eastern philosophy, the preferred arrangement is to locate works about a given philosopher under the appropriate place & religion or period in AIJ/AJW. It may then be necessary to qualify the philosopher by preceding facets in AIA/AIH, e.g. Buddhist Vijnanavada School — Maitreya — Idealism in. Works by a philosopher on a specific topic go under topic in the usual way; but this rarely occurs in practice, since the subject is usually sufficiently diffuse to warrant locating under the writer. So most or all of the concepts below may be needed to qualify a philosopher.
- To qualify an individual philosopher, proceed as follows (remembering that some concepts should be used only if following a particular alternative as noted above).
- Add to – (where hyphen represents the philosopher's classmark) the numbers & letters below:
